Sam Rigdon, a Murphysville Farmer

A Bad Mix-Up For All Parties Concerned

Samuel Rigdon, a farmer residing in the Murphysville neighborhood, was visited this morning before daylight by eleven masked men and taken from his home and whipped with buggy whips in a cruel manner.

He was told that the chastisement was for unlawfully taking up cattle, Rigdon several weeks ago having had a warrant issued for Mrs. Lucy Wells and Ben Cole, charging them with letting stock run at large.

Rigdon came to town this morning and swore out warrants for the arrest of Ben Cole and Bayless Wilson, two prominent men of the Murphysville neighborhood.

He says he recognized Cole, he holding his hands while the lash was well applied.

Rigdon is an Equity man, having 24,000 pounds in the pool, and the tobacco situation has nothing whatever to do with the whipping; on the other hand the outrage is roundly condemned by all well wishers of the Society of Equity.

Captain Jonathan Hamilton will be returned to the Lexington Asylum tomorrow.

THEATRIUM.

Again we had to turn people away; did not have room enough to accommodate them. The reason was the two Arns, Villa and Fred, in their up-to-date sketch, and Leo DeAlva, the funny boy. STANDARD OIL FINE

Said to Be Causing Big Company a Lot of Worry

WASHINGTON, July 18th.—The Standard Oil Company, staggered by the imposition of the fine of $29,000,000 imposed upon it by Judge Landis of Chicago and fearing a similar outcome to other suits still to be tried, has been begging for mercy.

Thus far it has been turned down by the Administration. President Roosevelt wants the case to come to a final decision in the United States Supreme Court. Pleas for a compromise have thus far been rejected and the Government will stand pat on all cases against the big monopoly.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 16th, 1908.

Mr. James W. Van Cleave, President National Association of Manufacturers, Chicago, Ill.—Dear Sir: We are in hearty accord with the work you and others are doing at Chicago to prevent the limitation of the powers of the Federal Courts to grant injunctions and the amending of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law so as to exempt Labor Unions from the operation of that act, and have forwarded resolutions to that effect to Senators LODGE, BURROWS and HOPKINS and to Congressman PAYNE for presentation to the Committee on Resolutions.

As an organization we are opposed to strikes and boycotts and all forms of class legislation which makes fair of one and foul of another, and we trust that the day is not far distant when there will be a compulsory arbitration law upon the books of the Nation that will put an end to strikes by adjusting all differences between the employer and the employee by arbitration, and to this end we are bending all our energies. There should be no legislation which does not bear equally upon all elements of the community. With best wishes, we remain, faithfully yours,

WHEN THEY MET

THE young woman on the front seat of the automobile gave a decided tag to her veil.

"No," she said, "you can't care very much or you'd remember a little thing like that!"

"Well," suggested the young man, anxiously frowning over the steering wheel.

"If it's so little what's the use of making a fuss over it?"

"It may be small in one way—but not in another!" corrected the young woman with dignity. "I can't understand it! You say you didn't remember in the least how you felt when you first saw me—or where or when it was!"

"You see, it's as if I'd always known you," exclaimed the young man, brightly. "I don't remember anything before that!"

"In that case you'd remember the beginning!" insisted the young woman, in sad triumph. "It just shows that our first meeting meant nothing to you!"

"Why, I remember all about it!" burst forth the young man. "Of course I do! You had on a dress with pink roses on it and it was at Molly Frost's at a card party exactly three winters ago!"

The young woman drew as far away as the width of the seat would allow and gazed at the scenery in absorbed interest. Though she said nothing the young man felt the frost in the atmosphere, even through his leather coat.

"Wasn't it?" he demanded, with a failing infection heroically positive.

The young woman coughed. "I wonder if we'll get out to the house on time?" she murmured as if to herself.

"Wasn't it?" demanded the young man sternly, almost running over a dog in his absorption.

"I suppose you've forgotten," said the young woman with elaborate indifference, "that three winters ago I was in Europe and also that I never laid eyes on Molly Frost in my life till last December."

The young man increased the speed of the machine. "Well, anyhow," he said firmly, "it was a dress with pink roses and somebody wore it!"

"I've no doubt of it," said the young woman sweetly. "She certainly made a strong impression on you, since you recall her after all these years. I don't blame you, in view of that, for forgetting such a trivial occurrence as being introduced to me—"

"As if I could mix you up with any one else!" protested the young man, plunging desperately. "I—I just did that to tease you, Annette!"

The young woman surveyed him coldly. "Did you?" she asked with suspicious calmness. Then smiled. "What a joke!" she murmured. Presently she demanded: "Well, then, joking aside, when was it we first met?"

The young man stopped the machine with a jerk and getting out some tools, crawled part way underneath it and began pounding. "I thought something was wrong," he called in muffled tones.

After ten minutes of this he emerged with an air of relief. "Guess we'll get along all right now," he said, jauntily. "Fine day for a ride, isn't it? Did you notice—"

"When was it?" repeated the young woman in even tones.

The young man beat low over the wheel and swallowed hard. "It was after you got home from abroad," he said with a positive air.

"Yes?" prompted the young woman. "At a dinner at the Souths?" The young man felt danger in the silence which followed this attempt. "No, no; I mean the theater party Howardson gave—eh? Remember the chinchilla coat you wore then?"

"My furs were crumpled," murmured the young woman with indifference. "And I wasn't at Mr. Howardson's party because I had the grip at the time. What's the use of pretending that you remember when you don't at all? Why don't you just say that the first time you met me I made no impression whatever upon you among the crowd of really interesting people and you didn't notice me especially? Why not be honest?"

"Of course I noticed you!" protested the young man, still clinging desperately to the romance expected of him.

Then he threw down his shield and gunnelt and turned on her. "Well," he said doggedly, "when and where was it we really met? I do seem kind of mixed on the subject! When was it?"

The young woman turned her head away and gave her veil another twitch. Then she looked at him and from behind the enshrouding chiffon came a subdued and helpless chuckle. "I don't know," she confessed. "I haven't any more idea than you have, Tommy!"

"Well, if you haven't got a lot of nerve!" gasped the young man after he had comprehended. "And grilling me like that for forgetting!"—Chicago Daily News.

PLES OF MEDIEVAL ART.

Fine Stained Glass Windows Recently Received at New York.

The two German windows of stained glass among the recent acquisitions belong in period to the early sixteenth century, at the time when medievalism passes over into renaissance. The color is lighter and paler than that of the preceding century and is secondary in importance to the design. In the examples at the museum are certain tints of yellow that began to be used in the middle of the fifteenth century, as taste changed in favor of lighter rooms. The subjects of the windows are St. John and St. Maximine against a background of tapestry and architecture treated so as to appear on the same plane as the figures. The author of the note on the windows in the Museum Bulletin says that the drawing is undoubtedly the work of a painter—and a very good one—of the Ober-Rhein school, and that as St. Maximine was bishop of Trier, the supposition that the glass is from that source is probably correct. Very fine examples of the same period are those in the nave of Cologne cathedral.—New York Times.

APPLES ONLY ON APPLE TREES.

Small Girl a Humorist, Though Probably Unconscious.

A Washington man, while visiting a friend's place in Virginia, became much interested in his experiments in fruit culture.

One day the visitor was making the rounds of the place, being in charge of the friend's young daughter of ten, who acted as guide.

"This tree seems to be loaded with apples," observed the Washingtonian, indicating a particularly fine specimen.

"Yes, sir," assented the little girl; "father says this is a good year for apples."

"I am glad to hear that," said the visitor. "Are all your trees as full of apples as this one?"

"No, sir," explained the girl, "only the apple trees."—Harper's Weekly.

Making Furniture Like New.

Where there are fine plaike scratches on new furniture they may be easily remedied by using pulverized rottenstone, that can be bought ready for use. Put this on a soft flannel rag and rub into the surface of the seat, back or arms of a chair or on the top of a table. It will not only take off the defects, but bring a polish to the wood.

To remove the rottenstone with a damp piece of chamois carefully wipe the wood, and when all trace of this is gone a bright lustre can be brought to the surface of the wood by rubbing it lightly with a soft piece of cheese-cloth moistened with alcohol.

The latter must be used sparingly on furniture, for it burns the varnish and will ruin the appearance of the rocker or table if enough is put on to scorch the surface.

No Smoke in Volcanoes.

The materials ejected from volcanoes are chiefly vapor or water, lava, cinders, rock fragments and various gases. There is no true smoke emitted and very little perceptible flame. In most cases the light and the so-called "flames" are the glow of the molten lava and its reflection on the clouds of vapor. The passage through which the eruptive matter rises to the surface is called the chimney or vent and the bowl-like enlargement of it, commonly at the summit of the mountain and often of great size, is called the crater. There may be a number of craters on one cone.

Man's Heart is a Shuttle.

A man's life is laid in the loom of time to a pattern which he does not see, but God does, and his heart is a shuttle. On one side of the loom is sorrow, and on the other is joy; and the shuttle, struck alternately by each, flies back and forth, carrying the thread which is white or black as the pattern needs. And in the end, when God shall lift up the finished garment, and all its changing hues shall glance out, it will then appear that the deep and dark colors were as needful to beauty as the bright and high colors.—Hoecher.

The "Infanta."

Infanta is the title given in Spain and Portugal to the princes of the royal family, with the exception of the heir apparent, the corresponding title of infants being given to princesses. Since the fourteenth century the heir apparent to the throne of Spain has been styled prince of Asturias, and the heir apparent in Portugal, until the separation of Brazil from the mother country, bore the title of prince of Brazil.

The House of Lords.

The higher nobility or peerage of England contains five ranks: Duke, marquis, earl, viscount and baron. All persons holding these titles are members of the upper house of parliament, where they sit as lords temporal. The archbishops and bishops of the Established church are termed lords spiritual. They are not peers of the realm, but have seats in the upper house.

Looking for the Fifth.

The leading lady passed down the avenue with her speckled bull pup. "That's the star," whispered the sweet singer.

"Star, eh?" laughed the low comedian. "Then I'd call her Jupiter. She has had four moons."

"Four moons?"
"Yes, honeymoons."

Easy to Kill Flies.

A screen for electric lighting flies is easily made and offers a source of much amusement. A device of this description was made by a Chicago man and was found to work admirably. The screen was made with the wires running in one direction connected to one terminal of a small dynamo and the cross wires connected to the other terminal. Two sets of wires were insulated from each other. As soon as the legs of the fly come in contact with the wires of the screen the insect stiffens out and dies instantly and painlessly.

The Dear Old Days.

Touched by his sad story, a Harrisburg woman recently furnished a meal to a melancholy looking hobo who had applied therefor at the back door.

"Why do you stick out the middle finger of your left hand so straight while you are eating?" asked the compassionate woman. "Was it ever broken?"

"No, mum," answered the hobo, with a saffle. "But during my halcyon days I wore a diamond ring on that finger, and old habits are hard to break, mum."—Harper's Weekly.

Sometimes It Is Hard Enough.

"One great trouble," said the distinguished阔人, "is that it is too easy to get divorced in this country."
"My dear sir," replied the thoughtful American, "I am afraid you have jumped at a conclusion. You have never been married, to any of our women whose one object in life was to go a little faster than their neighbors, have you?"

An Advantage for Sure.

"So Jack's married a divorcee. Well, that's better than marrying a widow."

"How do you make that out?"
"Well, a divorcee isn't likely to throw up to one the virtues of her former husband."

To Maintain Health.

There is an erroneous idea in the minds of many as to what constitutes a strong physique. A man can be strong physically without great stature and huge muscles. If he has a wiry frame, a body that resists disease, he can indulge in many hours of severe brain work. He will make it a rule, however, to take sufficient physical exercise to keep his system in good condition.

SERIOUS CUTTING

Charles Gray Roughly Handled
By Oscar Carr Yesterday Morning

Charles Gray, white, and Oscar Carr, colored, had a fight at George Pollitt's livery stable in East Third street yesterday morning about 8 o'clock, and the former was badly used up and would probably have been killed had it not been for the intervention of bystanders.

Carr, besides dealing Gray a fearful blow with his fist between the eyes, brought a vicious looking knife into play and slashed his antagonist in the left side, in a fearful manner, inflicting a wound over two inches long and cutting clean to the rib, which let the claret flow copiously.

The injured man was taken to Dr. A. O. Taylor's office, where his wound was sewed up and dressed.

Gray is a married man and works for O. G. Callahan at Helena Station. He came to town Saturday night, so he says, to go on the excursion to Cincinnati yesterday morning. He left a sack containing clothing in the office of the stable and the trouble arose over its removal to another part of the premises.

There are two sides to the affray, the colored man claiming self-defense, while Gray claims he was the aggressor.

Carr was arrested by Officer Senteuey and taken before Judge Whitaker, who placed his bond at $500, and in default was committed to Jail.

Providing Gray is able to appear—which is very doubtful—the examining trial will be held this afternoon, when the true facts in the case will be brought out.

ALL matter for publication must be handed in before 9 o'clock a. m.

Superior Mental Equipment! Not Absolutely Necessary. If you are not very clever, don't be discouraged. It is not always the brainy man, or the positive genius, who makes headway. If nature has only given you average brain power, then make up for it by cultivating other valuable qualities.

Go in for genuine, honest work. Take a pride in doing every job well. Turn out the very best article you can produce. Do nothing as if it were trifling.

Earn for yourself a reputation for reliability and staunch honesty. Be known as "a white man." These are precious qualities. So is punctuality. Cultivate a habit of turning up promptly to time. Be as correct as an English lever watch. Redeem your promises. Be willing, keep your temper well under control, and, by your words and deeds, convince those around you that you are to be trusted.

Just, then, think of your chances, even if you are not a clever young person. Buck up, like a good sort, and succeed on these lines. There is heaps of room for this class of commodity.—Exchange.

But Yet a Man! "I suppose I have about the most thoughtful, kind and considerate husband in the world," she was saying, sadly. Round gray stones which are real rolling stones are plentiful in Australia. They are of no value save as curiosities. When laid on a table these stones begin to quiver. Then they begin to roll, first with a slow, then with a faster gait toward the table's center. In a few minutes they will all be together in a tight bunch. The magnetic iron ore which they contain accounts for their motions.

Will Not Be Accepted For Campaign Fund, Declares Taft

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 18th.—"The National Republican Committee will accept no contributions from corporations," said Judge William H. Taft, Presidential candidate of the Republican party, today and in an interview he also referred to labor, prohibition and other questions.

Mr. Taft said that not only would the law of New York State providing for the publicity of campaign contributions be obeyed by the National Republican Committee, but the Federal Law prohibiting such contributions by corporations, in connection with the election of President, Vice-President, Representatives or Senators would be obeyed without regard to any question of validity that might arise in respect to any provisions of the law.

REV. ROSEBERRY VINDICATED

Committee of Investigation Declares There Is No Proof to Substantiate Charges

FLEMINGSBURG, Ky., July 18th, 1908.

Editor Public Ledger, Maysville, Ky.—Dear Sir: Please to permit me to say to your readers that a Committee of Investigation was called to investigate the rumors mentioned in your issue of July 10th, affecting the character of Rev. H. E. Roseberry, Pastor of the Sardis M. E. Church, South.

This Committee, consisting of Revs. B. F. Chatham and E. E. Holmes of Maysville and Rev. Edward Allen of Germantown, went to the town of Sardis July 16th and spent the entire day trying to run down the reports and get at the facts in the case. Their most diligent efforts failed to discover a single person who knew of anything incriminating in the conduct of Brother Roseberry and not a word of proof could be secured, tending to fasten on him any immorality whatever.

Their unanimous verdict was that there are no grounds for accusing him of any immoral conduct.

I trust both papers and people will give to the findings of this Committee of Investigation as wide circulation as they gave to the ugly rumors. Sincerely yours,

W. E. ARNOLD,
Presiding Elder Maysville District, M. E. Church, South.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by P. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

There is a Heap of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well-Earned Reputation.

For months Maysville readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. John E. Burne, living in the Western part of Maysville, Ky., says: "I value Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly today as when I gave a statement in their favor some years ago. Prior to their use I was subject to frequent attacks of kidney trouble. At times the pain in my back was so acute that I was rendered almost helpless and confined to my bed for days at a time. The quick and decided relief I obtained from Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at J. J. Wood & Son's Drugstore, was very gratifying, and during the years which have elapsed I have had no serious return of kidney trouble. On some occasions I have felt a slight headache, but a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to ward off any serious trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
